

Environmental Policy Statement

Elliott is a leading supplier of portable and modular buildings, and building systems in the UK. We are committed to conducting our business in a manner which complies with relevant legislation and reduces our impact upon the environment. Elliott has introduced new Lean work methods into the industry to reduce our direct impact on the environment. We are reducing our indirect and scope 3 impacts through the introduction of modern and novel products which enable our customers to reduce their direct environmental impacts. Significant components of Elliott Group Ltd now have ISO 14001 certification and following our recent rapid expansion, revised systems in line with ISO 14001 are being developed for other parts of the business.

Elliott considers the effective management of our environmental impacts and a commitment to continuous improvement to be of equal importance with other key activities for the efficient and long-term success of the business.

Elliott is committed to:

Responsible use of environmental resources through implementing active controls to reduce waste, conserve energy, minimise emissions and develop opportunities for reuse, recycling and recovery of waste

Prevent unacceptable environmental impacts or offend local communities through emissions to air, releases to water or disposal of solid waste.

Develop and assemble products taking into consideration their environmental impacts during production, use and disposal.

Educate and motivate our employees to work in an environmentally responsible manner.

Liaise with customers and suppliers to reduce our indirect impacts.

Take an industry leading role to promote a movement to modern, less environmentally damaging technologies and methods throughout the portable and modular building industry.

Environmental Management Systems implemented which meet the requirements of recognised standards and where commercially required are accredited to these standards such as ISO 14001.

Employ a range of Environmental KPIs that reflect the dynamic nature of our operations and our key environmental impacts.

The company environmental performance is monitored continuously by divisional management and annually by the board.

Our goal is to be recognised as the industry leader on environmentally responsible management for the portable and modular building sectors.
